Applicants respectfully traverse this rejection. Turner discloses a hybrid access terminal (HAT) with a single access terminal to provide voice, data and short messaging services on a first network, and a high-speed packet data service on the second network (col 5, lines 4-9; col 4, lines 45-65). Additionally, Claims 1 and 10 are directed towards a hybrid access terminal (HAT) discontinues monitoring the first communication system by transitioning from the hybrid operation mode to the data only operation mode and monitors only the second communication system.

Moreover, Claims 12 and 16 are directed to the embodiments of the present invention in which the HAT in the data only operation mode transmits/receives the signaling message of the first communication system which is wrapped in the signaling message format of the second communication system.
